

ABSTRACT

There is provided an option module for a printer, capable of preserving versatility while reducing possibility of ending in an error. An option module for realizing a specific function while being connected to a printer has a unit for inquiring
5 to a printer connected thereto (below, referred to as "the connected printer") regarding a print function usable with the connected printer, and only the print function usable with the connected printer is designated and operated, realizing the specific function.